Long-serving police chief retires

Michael Carlson retired as police chief of the City of Northville on July 31. He has held the position since September 2014, when he was promoted from serving as a captain. He initially joined as a part time officer in November 1992 and was made full time on July 1, 1993. The interim police chief will be Captain Dustin Krueger, until a new police chief is recruited.

City Manager Pat Sullivan spoke highly of the chief's contributions and work ethic. "It was a pleasure working with Chief Carlson. He is a true professional, highly ethical, a great leader, but also, just a really great person to work with. In a small, tight-knit organization, that's really important. We'll miss the fine work that he did here, but we'll miss him more as a person who we truly enjoyed seeing every day. He's laid a great foundation in the police department. He's earned all the great things that will be coming his way in retirement and whatever career path he takes."

Below is a Q & A that summarizes Chief Carlson's career - highlights, challenges and community involvement - that made his tenure personally rewarding for him and safer for residents, business owners and visitors.

Q1. The bulk of your career has been spent in Northville. What was it about the work culture and people that you served with that made you want to stay here?

A. I spent almost 10 years in the U.S. Army as a military policeman. Most of my military police assignments were on small military bases. Once leaving the military and putting myself through the police academy, it was natural to become a civilian police officer in a small community. The quaintness and friendliness of Northville made it an easy choice. During my career in Northville, I got to know many people in the community and I feel like I played a part in making the community what it is today. The small-town atmosphere made it easy to walk and talk to people downtown. Patrolling in the subdivisions and talking with the citizens was enjoyable. Interacting with people in this manner helped me get to know what's going on in the area and I also developed very good friendships from it. This type of policing is necessary in any community to keep good relations between the citizens and police, and it seemed to occur naturally in Northville.

Q2. What has been the highlight of your career here?

A. There have been many highlights. Overall, I would say that the stand-out is having the privilege of leading this agency and having a role in developing the personnel in it. I think the community should know that they have a great police department with hard-working police officers and support staff that hold true to the department's three values: responsiveness, ethics and respect. The community is in good hands.

Q3. What values of policing do you really relate to?

A. Always try to treat others the way you would want to be treated. Our department's values fit nicely into this philosophy.

Q4. What kept you engaged in a job that can be dangerous and one in which you are often seeing people at their worst...due to perpetrating a crime or being a victim of crime?

A. Victims need our assistance in getting justice; the community expects to be safe in their neighborhoods; people sometimes only have the police to call on for help - this is why we are here and do what we do. It takes a certain type of person to be a police officer willing to be there for others in a time of need. Whether it's a complex, dangerous situation or as simple as rescuing a cat stuck in a tree (yes, we do respond to this type of call). A sense of accomplishment is gained when you formulate a plan, implement that plan, and come out of the situation successfully. The excitement and problem-solving challenges of this profession is what kept me engaged.

Q5. What are your future plans?

A. I will be taking a vacation, spending the rest of the summer with my children and grandchildren, and looking to establish a new career elsewhere.

During his last month at work, Michael Carlson got to greet many in the city that he loved by driving one of the lead vehicles in the Independence Day Parade.

Primary Election coming up Aug. 7

Be prepared to vote at the Tuesday, Aug. 7 primary election. Sample ballots and other important election information is available on the City of Northville's website. Visit the Michigan Secretary of State website to confirm your voter registration and find your polling place.

New voting equipment to be used at election

When voters go to the polls, they will use new voting equipment that makes it easier and more secure to cast a ballot. The units were first used in Northville during the Nov. 7, 2017 election.

Voters will still mark a paper ballot using a blue or black pen. They will fill in the box instead of an oval next to their choice. When the ballot is complete, the voter will insert it into a new tabulator, which confirms the vote with a picture of an American flag and the message "Your vote has been recorded. Thank you for voting."

The new equipment uses digital optical scan technology to count the paper ballots, which can also be recounted manually if necessary. After voting ends, election results are transmitted via cellular to the county. Also, on election night, a sealed printed set of results is delivered to the County Board of Canvassers.

There is also a voter assist terminal for voters with physical disabilities (hearing, visual, physical or other conditions) that enables them to vote using a touch screen, sip and puff device, or a controller.

Training keeps Explorers at cutting-edge of new firefighting tactics and technology

The Explorers post from Northville participated in the propane fire exercise at UIFSI annual training in Illinois.

Every summer, the Northville City Fire Department sends a group of Explorers - young adults and teens interested in becoming firefighters - to the University of Illinois Fire Service Institute in Champaign for intense training in firefighting and rescue skills. Two Explorers, Lucas Calandro, 19, and Brennan Mikel, 18, attended the Explorer Cadet Fire Academy in July. They were joined by Post Advisor Shari Allen and former Explorer Paul McKeever, now serving in the Air Force.

The four-day event serves some 400 people, mostly from nearby states. The students are divided into a basic or advanced group depending on their skill level and prior training. Lucas, in his fourth year with the Explorers, participated in the advanced class and practiced training with live fire.

One of the highlights of this year's training was teaching participants how to fight a propane fire hands-on. Two industrial-size propane tanks were lit and the trainees advanced to extinguish the fire. They were taught to deal with the dangers that make a propane-based fire harder to fight than a regular fire due to increased risks. Because propane is invisible, it can migrate under their face shield and cause burns. Their training taught them to open their face shields slightly to let harmful vapors escape.

Brennan attended the Basic class and, according to Allen, "He got about a year's worth of training in four days. He was able to learn a lot of the basic skills such as equipment and tactics for ropes and knots, structural firefighting techniques, emergency medical services and auto extrication."

The Northville post has worked in conjunction with the post of Western Springs Fire Department in Illinois for the past three years, each providing adult staff to assist during training, evening activities and at the dorms.

"We are always impressed by the wonderful staff at the academy and the firefighters who volunteer to be trainers for this group of teens and young adults looking to get a head-start on their fire careers," Allen said.

She added, "It takes a lot of effort and help to allow our Explorers to attend the academy - this is our 10th year attending."

The post has the full support of Fire Chief Steve Ott, who notes that many former Explorers have been hired over the years as paid-on-call firefighters, including four current personnel.

Several members of the department helped provide training to the Explorers, staffed the post's most recent car wash and conducted fit testing to make the trip possible.

Northville's Explorer program meets twice a month and holds monthly drills in fire-fighting tactics and EMS skills. It is chartered through Learning-for-Life's Explorer program (a division of Boy Scouts of America) and is funded entirely by grants and donations.

The post is active in the community, as kids help conduct fire drills at Allen Terrace, the city's senior housing facility; assist at festivals; play victim for mock disaster drills and help other community groups.

About 80 percent of the Explorers who attend the Northville program pursue a career as a firefighter or in a related capacity.

Beat the heat in August - send your kids to camp at Maybury State Park

Northville Parks and Recreation invites kids, ages 6 to 11, to explore the great outdoors and meet new friends at Summer Day Camp at Maybury State Park the weeks of August 6-10 and August 13-17.

It's the 37th year for this popular day camp, where kids play games, hike in the woods, go fishing, attend weekly field trips, create crafts and socialize.

"One of the favorite activities for kids is to build forts from items they find in the forest," said Dave Lesmeister, recreation supervisor of programs at Northville Parks and Recreation. "They also like the field trips."

The staff is comprised of college students and recent graduates who enjoy guiding kids and interacting with them, with a minimum ratio of one counselor to 10 kids. Extra counselors are on hand to give the day campers plenty of supervision and attention. Kids keep cool with water balloons and other water games without actually going swimming. They bring their own lunch.

Parents can drop off their kids at the Horse Stable Parking lot at 20145 Beck Road in Northville Township and counselors walk them to the camp site. The site overlooks the pond, making it a beautiful setting. Hours are from 9:30 to 4 p.m., Monday - Friday. There's an early drop-off for an additional fee.

The cost for a week of camp is $170 for residents of Northville (city and township), and $180 for non-residents. For each additional child in the same family, there is a $30 discount off the regular rate. The camp is licensed through the State of Michigan Department of Human Services. To register, go to northvilleparksandrec.org (click on registration/youth recreation) or call 248-349-0203.

HOUSE OF WAX: Juried Encaustic Competition

The Northville Art House is hosting the HOUSE OF WAX: Juried Encaustic Competition Aug. 3-25. The competition features 39 works created by 23 artists nationwide who demonstrate the visual possibilities of working with cold wax and encaustic (hot wax). The paintings, prints, collage, and sculptural works selected by competition juror Candace Law reveal the inherent qualities of the media such as depth, texture and luminosity, as well as the unique style of each artist.

Join us for the opening reception on Friday, Aug. 3 from 6 - 9 p.m. with an awards presentation and juror's talk at 7 p.m. to celebrate these participating artists: Suzanne Allen, Winnie Chrzanowski, Kellen Deau, Gwen Downs, Kim Ensich, Teresa Foster, Naomi Hart, Beverly Koivunen, Maria Latour, Rosemary Lee, Kathleen McNamee, Jason Merriman, Jody Paulson, Melissa Porter, Cindy Rashid, Melissa Rian, Mia Risberg, Jenny Schwartz, Jennifer Stefanek, Ruth Warnock, Wendy Wernet, Lisa Wight and Paula Zammit. The artists are competing for six awards totaling more than $750.

Encaustic is an ancient medium that dates back as early as the 4th and 5th centuries BCE in Greece, created by mixing dry pigments with a molten wax, usually beeswax. The medium made a rebirth in the mid-20th Century with the American artist Jasper Johns and since the 1990s has grown in popularity with the availability of portable electric heating implements such as a hotplate and other tools that make the medium more accessible.

About the Juror: Candace Law is a full-time artist in the Detroit area. After receiving degrees and working in other fields, she earned a BFA in Architectural Illustration, but found herself drawn to fine art. Her current work focuses on encaustic (hot wax) and mixed media, especially incorporating found objects.

"Art for me is a means of communicating about our environment, our lives, sharing our experiences and reflecting how they inform each other."

Her exhibits include several solo shows as well as numerous regional and national exhibitions-both invitational and juried competitions. Her work has appeared in Encaustic Arts magazine, as well as the Studio Visit publication, and is in a number of private collections, including at Detroit's Historic Trinity Church. Candace teaches encaustic workshops and works from her studio in Berkley, MI.

Days and times to water your lawn and garden

The City of Northville uses mandatory outdoor watering restrictions to reduce the amount of water used during peak hours of demand from our supplier, the Great Lakes Water Authority (GLWA).

Residents with automatic sprinkling systems may water their grass between midnight and 5 a.m. on odd or even days of the month, based on your house address. If your address ends with an even number, e.g. 200, you may water during unrestricted times only on even days, such as the 20th and 22nd. If your address ends with an odd number, e.g. 201, you may water during unrestricted times only on odd days, such as 21st and 23st.

Residents who connect a hose to the City water system may water their lawn and gardens between 11 a.m. and midnight on either odd or even days, based on your house address. (See examples above.)

Residents who do not follow these restrictions are committing a civil infraction and may be issued a ticket, which cost $50 for the first offense and $100 for repeat offenses. If you use water from a private well, please notify the City's Department of Public Works so patrols aren't made to check your water use.

Brush collection program

The City of Northville allows residents to place branches at the curb without bundling or bagging them. Branches 6 feet long and up to 6 inches in diameter can be placed at the curb for removal by the City's solid waste collection contractor.

Residents can dispose of large piles of branches by placing them at the curb. Every Tuesday, year-round, a crew will come through each neighborhood and chip any branches left at the curb. Branches must be in the street right-of-way (between the street and the sidewalk). Simply stack the branches neatly behind the curb with the cut ends facing the street.

We cannot take roots, stumps dirt, lumber, railroad ties or any wood with metal in it. Residents can dispose of firewood pieces and stumps with their normal weekly garbage (Maximum 35 gallon cans and 60 lb. weight limit).

Residents may need to rake up small branches after the large brush piles are removed.

Northville Police Department has free gun safety locks

Don't take the risk of having an unlocked gun get into the wrong hands - especially if you have young children and teenagers. Stop in at the Northville Police Department lobby to get your free gun safety lock. There are no forms to fill out and no waiting.
