

156 N. Center Street Proposal

The signatures below indicate support of the proposed building for 156 N. Center Street in Northville, Michigan.

The proposed new building, designed by Northville architects Robert Miller and Greg Presley, would be located where the original opera house structure from the early 1900s once stood. There is currently a single story building once used as a flower shop in the location. The new building would include a restaurant on the first floor and residences on the second and third floors. Those in favor of this project see the need for a significant architectural attraction as the entrance to downtown Northville. The current building is not particularly known for its aesthetic architecture.

We support this design.
